

Gas safety campaign

Are you leading the way in your fight against raising awareness of the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning? Do all of your tenants have a valid CP10 certificate for gas appliances in their home?

Every housing association has a legal duty to carry out annual gas safety checks (CP10) and issue an annual gas safety certificate to every one of its properties.

If you are having problems reaching tenants and you have a large number of gas safety checks outstanding, IPB Communications can help you reach these people. We will work with you to develop an integrated campaign which will help you to achieve a target of gas safety checks to 100% of properties.

Quite often the main reason for the failure of tenants to comply is due to a lack of awareness about the importance of these annual gas safety checks. IPB can develop a campaign to raise awareness and target those customers you have been unable to reach. Our work in this field has been recognised nationally.
